Sleuth Takes Stand In Oil Contempt Trial

Five U. S. Senators Testify
Detective's Reputation
For Honesty Good

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—William J. Burns, veteran detective, denied on the witness stand in the Sinclair-Burns contempt trial today that he had any connection with the shadowing of Fall-Sinclair jurors, which resulted in contempt charges against him, Harry F. Sinclair and four others.

Five U. S. senators testified in the contempt trial today that the reputation of Burns for honesty and integrity was "good."

Friends of Burns

Senators James E. Watson, Indiana, Republican presidential candidate; George H. Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, president pro-tempore of the senate, and Samuel Shortridge, Republican, California, said they were personal friends of Burns.

Senators Royal Copeland and Robert Wagner, Democrats, New York, later testified they knew Burns and that his reputation for integrity was "good."

Blackmer Gave $5000 To Coolidge Fund, Says Nye

Lindbergh, in St. Louis, Is Uncertain as to What Lies Ahead

By FOSTER EATON
(United Press Correspondent)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 14.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's plans for the future include a home-coming flight over St. Louis today, a flight over his old air mail route to Chicago next week and little more.

"I really haven't made any definite plans," the youthful good will ambassador said in an interview, "the only definite plan is to go to Europe to escape testifying in the Teapot Dome trials, gave $5000 to the President Coolidge campaign fund, in 1924, Chairman Nye, of the senate Teapot Dome committee, announced this afternoon.

Nye said that committee investigators, inspecting the campaign contributions filed by the Republican national committee with the house of representatives, ascertained that Blackmer sent this amount for the campaign from his hiding place in Europe.

White And Marsh To Be Called By Probers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—George White, of Ohio, former chairman, and Wilbur Marsh, of Iowa, former treasurer of the Democratic national committee, will be called by the senate Teapot Dome committee to see if any of the 1921 oil deal profits were used to pay off the Democratic campaign def-

HANFORD, Calif., Feb. 14.—Making his last stand to save Perry Allen Coen from the gallows, Defense Attorney J. C. Russell today sought to impress upon the jury the possibility that Isabel Artist, 16-year-old sweetheart of the accused slayer, may have been the killer of her father and mother.

Russell ridiculed "third degree" defense allegedly employed to make Coen confess, asserting that his client had no motive for slaying the Artist couple, whom he regarded as his own father and mother.

85 APPLICATIONS RECEIVED IN CHAMBER MEMBER DRIVE

PARTIAL REPORTS by teams working in the chamber of commerce drive for members made late yesterday afternoon, revealed that solicitors had taken the applications of 85 men for identification with the organization, according to a statement today by J. W. Estes sr., chairman of the drive committee.

Pointing out that a number of men working on various teams had not made reports, Estes said he believed that the actual number produced exceeded 100.

"Even this number is far from the goal of 600 new members set by the committee," Estes said. "I would remind the citizens of Santa Ana that the chamber now is undertaking its greatest effort to promote the best interests of Santa Ana by inducing new industries to locate here, by advertising the many advantages of living here and in various other ways.

Attracts Many Residents

"The organization has been successful in attracting many new residents to this city and when new people come in and spend their money here, every man, woman and child is benefited. Every dollar spent in a drug store, a grocery store, or paid for rent, helps more than 10 people before night.

"The chamber is not asking residents to support a joy ride for the chamber. Success of the chamber depends upon the support it receives and the city depends upon the success of the chamber. The members of the chamber are the chamber of commerce. The chamber has spent a great deal of money asking Santa Ana to buy at home. The members have paid the cost of the advertising and promotion work in advocating the 'buy-at-home' program, but the non-members have received greater benefit because they are in the majority."

In order to arrive at some definite information as to what proportion of the business community is supporting the chamber, Estes has compiled a list that disclosed that only 135 business houses and firms out of 167 are supporting the organization by taking memberships.

Hickman Must Hang April 27, Trabucco Rules

Fox Reveals No Emotion as Judge Sets Date for Execution

By DAN CAMPBELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

JUROROOM, Los Angeles, Feb. 14.—William Edward Hickman was sentenced today to be hanged at San Quentin penitentiary Friday, April 27.

The death sentence was passed by Judge J. J. Trabucco, after defense counsel had interposed various legal moves to stay judgment.

Before pronouncing the death sentence the court adjourned to the kidnaping charge.

No Term Fixed

No term was fixed on the charge, the court assuming the death sentence would eliminate the necessity of a stated term of years.

Hickman stood rigidly at attention, his hands held stiffly at his side, as he heard the fatal words.

"The Fox" never flinched and his pallid face did not reveal a sign of emotion.

Judge Trabucco was obviously affected and fingered a document before him as he sternly pronounced the death penalty.

He did not use the words "hang by the neck until dead" and his voice died to a monotone as he concluded his brief statement with the words, "May God have mercy on your soul."

Returns For Picture

Hickman hurried from the courtroom, but was returned a few minutes after sentence to have his picture taken.

He appeared unaffected and posed with a smile.

Defense Attorney Richard Cantillon told the United Press that the defense would exercise its right to file an appeal to the supreme courts two days after sentence is passed.

Cantillon said the appeal probably would not be filed before Thursday.

"Look, he never feasted me," the slayer said, extending his hand so that his guard, Clyde Peters, might see as the two stood in an ante-room after sentence was pronounced.

Slayer's Hand Steady

Peters, the six-foot guard, who has been with Hickman throughout the trial, was trembling, but the slayer extended his arm and his hand was motionless.

"Say I took it like a man, will you?" was the smiling comment

AL SMITH ARRESTED; IT'S NOT GOVERNOR

EL CENTRO, Calif., Feb. 14.—Alfred E. Smith, who was given a 25-day suspended sentence here today for sleeping in someone else's car, denied that he was the governor of New York, but declared he thought "Al's all right."

Only a few weeks ago, Judge Perkins, who heard Smith's case, sat in the trial of C. C. Young, who declared he wasn't the governor of California.

HICKMAN MUST HANG APRIL 27. COURT RULING of the youth upon his return to his cell.

"That is about all I have to say," he declared, and turned to a Bible, which someone had left in the courtroom during his trial. "We only got 66 days to read the whole Bible," he said, under the impression that the date of his execution had been set for April 20.

"Oh, it's the 27th, is it, well what gives me 73 days?"

Bailiff La Fleur handed "The Fox" a large Bible today, soon after the hearing ended, and Hickman took it to his cell.

On the foreleaf is inscribed the sentence, "Jesus Loves You," and below, "Learn to be a Christian." Hickman was perfectly at ease as he chatted through the bars. The look of tenseness was gone and he seemed relieved now that his fate has been settled.

"It was nice the way the Judge said it. Nicer than I thought it would be. You know he said, 'May God have mercy on your soul,'" Hickman remarked. "I thought he was going to say something about hanging by the neck until dead."

"Are you going to read all the Bible?" he was asked.

"Yes, I believe in it," he declared.

With death on the gallows his fixed fate, Hickman will go to trial here Monday on a second murder charge, it was announced today.

Begin New Ordeal

Tried, convicted and sentenced for the kidnapping and slaying of Marion Parker, "The Fox" will begin a new ordeal with his erstwhile bandit pal, Welby Hunt, for the killing of Ivy Toms.

"He is under indictment" was the only explanation District Attorney Keyes offered in announcing that Hickman would be tried again.

The second trial will delay the slayer's removal to San Quentin, where, on Friday, April 27, the death sentence pronounced today by Judge J. J. Trabucco, will be carried out.

After a conference with attorneys today, Judge Carlos S. Hardy agreed to continue until Monday the trial of Hickman and Welby Hunt for the murder of C. Ivy Toms, Defense Attorney Richard Cantillon announced.

Another Transfer Expected

Judge Carlos Hardy, before whom Hickman and Hunt were arraigned for the murder of the Rose Hill druggist Christmas eve, 1926, is expected to transfer the case to another court.

Judge Hardy had planned to hear the Parker murder trial, but disqualifed himself when a defense motion, based on asserted prejudice, sought his removal.

The action of the district attorney in bringing Hickman up for trial again is believed to have been taken to assure the slayer's execution in the event that the Parker trial conviction is successfully appealed.

Hickman, however, has pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to the Toms murder, and in the event of a second conviction, a second appeal on the same grounds will be taken.

He also told his mother the same thing.

Hickman's Father Not Surprised At Sentence

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 14.—"It is nothing more than I expected," Thomas Hickman, father of the slayer of 12-year-old Marion Parker, said today when informed his son had been sentenced to the gallows for his crime.

The elder Hickman was at work in the crane in the Southern Pacific railroad yards when he was handed a dispatch from the United Press telling of his son's sentence.

"Before I said goodbye to him in Los Angeles, he said, 'This trial stuff is the bunk, dad, I'm bound to get the rope.'

Study of Body

Hickman said he would oppose a move to have his son's body turned over to medical authorities for study. "I don't think his mother would permit it either," he said.

Hickman was told of a statement by Asa Keyes, his son's prosecutor, that "I might be in the front ranks of the mob to tie a rope around Hickman's neck if I did not respect the laws of California."

"Did he say that?" the elder Hickman asked. "Well, doesn't that show my boy didn't have a chance?"

With this, the father's shoulders slumped, he handed the newspaperman the United Press dispatch and returned to his work.

cluded four Republicans, McNary, Oregon; Dale, Vermont; La Follette, Wisconsin, and Nye, North Dakota, and two Democrats, Harris, Georgia, and Copeland, New York.

Hoover's friends contend the move was designed to embarrass him.

They say if he stands by Mr. Coolidge's plan of compelling the flood states to pay part of construction costs he will cause antagonism among his followers in the Mississippi valley. On the other hand, if he opposes President Coolidge's plan, he may invoke administration opposition.

Questions Not Revealed

Senator Jones, who was disinclined to call Hoover, declared the committee desired to examine him on all phases of flood control. Committed members did not intend to ask him, Jones added.

Those in favor of calling Hoover argued that he is an engineer of world-wide reputation and that he was intimately connected with flood relief work.

"I'll just tell him that the committee desires to hear him and that he may appear at his own convenience," Jones said.

Hoover "Delighted" To Give Flood Control Views

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Secretary Hoover will be "delighted to appear before the senate flood committee and give anything that has," it was stated authoritatively in his behalf today.

Hoover will appear before the flood control committee any time after next Wednesday that the senators may name. His friends said the secretary would be glad of the opportunity to present his views.

Ohio Leader Switches From Willis To Hoover

CLEVELAND, Feb. 14.—Maurice H. Maschke, Republican national committeeman from Ohio, announced today that he had withdrawn his support from U. S. Senator Frank B. Willis and would support Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination.

Maschke issued the following statement:

"Almost to a unit the county organization (which Maschke dominates) wants to support the candidacy of Herbert Hoover because they believe he is the strongest candidate mentioned for the nomination.

DATES SET FOR ANNUAL Y.M.C.A. BOY'S CIRCUS

The circus is coming to town, bigger and better than ever. Physical Director R. R. Russick of the Y. M. C. A. announces that the dates have been set for the annual gymnasium circus of the local Y. M. C. A., and that work on the program is going forward at a rate that promises the best show yet.

Thursday and Friday, March 22 and 23 are the dates which have been selected for the circus, after a careful study of dates scheduled ahead by other organizations, and Russick is advising other organizations to watch those dates and keep them clear if possible, as the Y. M. C. A. circus is expected to be the big attraction on those particular evenings.

There will be 200 boys and men, girls and women in the show, and the program promises numerous innovations in drills, gymnastics and tumbling.

"We are trying this year to increase the entertainment values of our show, while still making it truly representative of the health and recreation work done in the gym classes," says Russick. "Our tumbling squad is one of the best we have had, while the team in heavy gymnastics is doing an unusually good grade of work. I feel safe in promising that this year's circus will be the best one we have presented in the four years since we began, although I realize that we have a hard task to beat some of those we have given."

GOLD STRIKE IN NEVADA BRINGS OUT NEW TOWN

TONOPAH, Nev., Feb. 14.—Nevada awoke today to find a new city existing in its southern desert.

Wahmonie, the Shoshone Indian word for gold, came into being almost over night as a result of a new gold strike that bears the earmarks of developing an important and permanent camp.

The strike was reported by Ira McFarland, former state engineer, Fred Gilbert and Legal Gilbert. The Gilberts made the discovery 32 miles west of Tonopah three years ago that resulted in the town of Gilbert.

The new strike is at the base of Skull mountain, 53 miles from Beatty and 20 miles from the Tonopah-Las Vegas highway.

Mark Lefler, old Nevada "desert rat," made the original discovery at Wahmonie. Lefler it was who discovered the Candy mine at Jarbridge in the far northern section of Nevada.

Samples from the Lefler strike return assay values of approximately $1000 metal content, principally gold.

A second strike was made about 5000 feet from Lefler's workings, from which an average sample, taken by Fred Gilbert across four feet, assayed $996.

A town of tents sprang up almost immediately and the ground for miles in every direction was staked within a few hours after word of the find was circulated in the mining communities of the south.

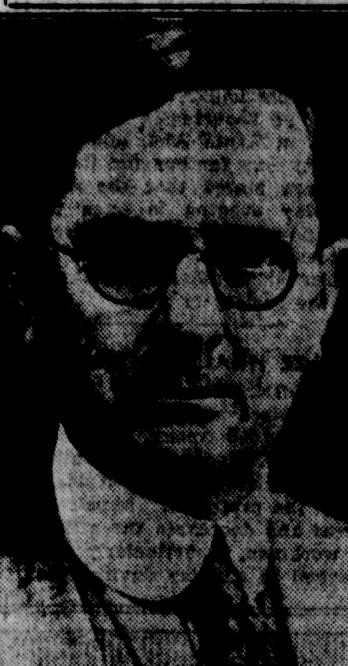

Adjacent to Lefler's ground are the old workings of the Horn Silver mine, operated by Mormons in 1853.

La Verne Coach Resigns Position

LA VERNE, Calif., Feb. 14.—Coach Dr. Claude Arnett, director of athletics at La Verne college, has tendered his resignation, to become effective at the end of the present semester, in June, it was said today. Ray Van Cleve, freshman football coach, is said to be favored to replace him at La Verne.

STATE LEADER

O. H. Barr, president of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., who has been elected president of the state association.

BARR ELECTED HEAD OF STATE Y. M. C. A. BODY

O. H. Barr, president of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., today had additional honors bestowed upon him, that of president of the state association. His election took place at the state convention in San Francisco.

Other officers elected at the 47th annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. were G. A. Dougherty, Salinas, first vice president; E. E. Groat, Hanford, second vice president, and Roy Melvin, San Bernardino, secretary.

Bay region men named to the state general board were John H. McCallum, Lyman L. Pierce and R. R. Perkins, San Francisco; Charles H. J. Truman and William Glidder, Oakland; Chief Justice William H. Waste and John Berger, Berkeley.

Barr for years has been active in association work and appreciation of his executive ability and keen interest in the welfare of boys has been expressed by the leaders of the state in his selection to head the big organization for the coming year.

Corbett Victor Over Thompson

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—Forcing the fighting most of the way, Young Corbett, Fresno welterweight won a popular decision over Young Jack Thompson, Los Angeles Negro scrapper in the new armory arena last night.

As a result of his victory, the Fresno batter today claimed the Pacific coast championship for his division.

AUXILIARY OF LEGION AFTER NEW MEMBERS

The American Legion auxiliary is making a campaign for new members, according to Rowena Fults, president of the order. She announced that mothers, sisters and wives of men belonging to the American Legion are eligible for membership. Anyone interested in joining the order is requested to phone Hazel Turton.

A membership dinner will be held February 16 at 6:30 p. m. at the American Legion home on Birch street, when Mrs. Ethel Hurst, state president of the auxiliary, will be present. She will be accompanied by other state officers.

The national president of the Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Walbridge, will be in Hollywood February 20 at 12 o'clock. At that time a number of the Santa Ana members will motor to Hollywood, where they will attend luncheon at Roosevelt hotel in her honor.

Monday afternoon the Legion auxiliary members motored to San Fernando where they held a card party for the disabled veterans and the nurses at the hospital there. Bridge, 500 and hearts were played. At the end of the afternoon, scores were added and prizes were awarded the winners.

The Santa Anans were guests at dinner that evening after which they presented the soldiers and nurses with valentines. The evening passed merrily with informal games of cards and in conversation and music.

The Santa Ana unit had taken several boxes of home made cookies which were given to the hospital for the patients.

Members of the local organization acted as delegates for the county council in taking valentines containing dollar bills to the hospital. The valentines were to be given to the non-compensated disabled soldiers this morning. A huge valentine cake was also to be presented to the men today.

Pomona will form TOASTMASTER CLUB

Pomona is to have the next Toastmasters' Club organization.

A party from the Santa Ana Toastmasters' club will go to Pomona on Friday evening of this week to assist the Y. M. C. A. of that city in starting a chapter. Secretary R. D. Williams of the Pomona Y reports a strong interest among the men of his town, and he anticipates that with the help of the Santa Ana group he will have no difficulty in getting a new club under way. The Pomona club, when organized, will be Number 8 of the Southern California Toastmasters' clubs, the one in Santa Ana holding the distinction of being Number 1.

This New Treatment Never Fails to End Piles

Many sufferers from piles or hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to C. S. Kelley or your druggist and get and original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear often forever.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained. Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00—C. S. Kelley or any other good druggist can supply you—Adv.

RANGE COUNTY BURIED GOLD EING SOUGHT

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 14.—A chest for buried treasure may be found here in the near future. Iron kettle, filled with $25,000 old, is reported to be buried in vicinity of Westminster and treasure map marks its location. The treasure was said by Carl Neuman, a refugee from Germany, who for many years resided in the Westminster section, according to a nephew of the man who has appeared here with a map and has asked permission to search for the gold. Neuman was known as Billy and for years lived in a small shack on what is now the Cozad property. He was a dealer in junk and, according to citizens here, lived the life of a hermit. Neuman passed away after being taken to Pottsville several years ago and his estate was divided up and sold, part being sold to J. J. Milton and part to W. J. Cozad.

Recently, a man appeared at the Cozad store and exhibited a map which he declared held the secret as to where $25,000 was buried. The man claimed to be a namesake of Carl Neuman and said that his uncle sent the map to him in Germany after he had buried the money. The nephew declared that the money is buried in an iron kettle covered with a skullcap. The man seemed very mysterious, according to Cozad, and disappeared immediately and has not appeared since.

STANDS ALONG HIGHWAYS ARE ORDERED DOWN

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 14.—Manicure architecture must hit the hot-dog stand in California or the hot-dog stand must hit the trail to extinction.

With this edict, Governor Young and E. B. Meek, state director of public works are instituting a statewide campaign to abolish the tumbledown shacks along the highways in an effort to beautify California's roadways.

The mongrel hot-dog stand must be shooed off the highways to make room for the pedigreed thoroughbred, Meek says.

A "Society for the Beautification of California's Roadways is soon to be organized in California by a prominent San Francisco man who intends to enlist every outraged autoist in the state to combat the further breeding of hot-dogs.

He is preparing to offer cash prizes to architects who draw up the most comely and original designs for the construction of these roadside purveyors to the tourist's gastronomic wants.

The possible creation of a separate bureau under the state division of architecture, department of public works, for approving the plans of the highway refreshment stands before their construction is authorized, is being considered today by Meek.

Another suggested remedy made by T. H. Dennis, acting maintenance engineer, California division of highways, that the state acquire an 80-foot right-of-way on all future highways, will receive the consideration of the state highway commission at their next meeting here, February 16.

When this is done, trees can be planted between the shacks and the highway, thus eliminating from the landscape such places as "Dad's Place," "The Bubbling Coffee Pot," "Jack's Joint," which are designed to catch the eye and the dime of the passing autoist, Dennis says.

"With the present means of rapid transportation, the automobile and airplane, there is little danger of anyone starving to death before reaching the next town, even if the hot-dog stands were taken away," Meek says.

However, McDade has been transferred and the fishermen say the fish have followed the man of prayer.

S. A. SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA TO PLAY FRIDAY

By RUTH ANDREWS

A symphonic concert program will be presented free to the public by Santa Ana Philharmonic Society, under direction of D. C. Clanton, Friday evening, at the Santa Ana high school auditorium.

An admirably planned program will include presentation of Mozart's complete "Symphony in G Minor," together with picturesque selections from Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite," and other well-known numbers.

A special feature of Friday night's concert will be the presentation of Robert Bradford, local baritone, in the famous Prologue from the favorite two-act opera "I Pagliacci" (The Strolling Players.) This will mark the first public presentation of Mr. Bradford, with the accompaniment of the orchestra.

The excellently constructed text and music of "I Pagliacci" were both composed by Ruggero Leoncavallo. Born at Naples, Italy, in 1858, Leoncavallo is best known for this opera, first produced in Milan, May 21, 1892.

The story of this opera concerns the domestic crisis of a group of strolling players, and is a clever development of a play within a play, a tragedy within a farce. The action centers about Canio, playing the part of the deceived husband, with Nedda, his wife, and Silvio, her secret lover, with whom she plans to flee. Through the revengeful spite of Tonio, the clown of the troupe, whose love-making has been scorned by Nedda, the husband is made aware of his wrongs, and when the players stage their evening performance, none suspect his jealous grudge.

During the play, which deals ironically with a domestic tragedy similar to that transpiring in the lives of its actors, the crowd applauds the realism of the performance, unaware of the jealous fury in the heart of Canio, which finally rises to a climax, as he rushes forward and stabs his wife and her lover, as he gasps to the horrified crowd—"The comedy is finished!"

POISON LIQUOR DID NOT CAUSE DEATH, REPORT

An autopsy performed on the body of Theodosia Alvarado, Mexican barber, of 204 West Fifth street, who died early yesterday morning under mysterious circumstances failed to reveal any trace of poison liquor in the man's stomach, and therefore exploded the theory held by officers that the man came to his death from liquor poisoning.

The autopsy surgeon reported the man probably died of heart trouble and police learned that it probably was hastened by the drinking of liquor just prior to his demise, they said.

Angel Reyes, 49, West Fifth street, arrested by officers soon after Alvarado's death on suspicion of having furnished the liquor was ordered released from custody today.

Coroner Charles Brown stated today that he probably would hold no inquest into the death of Alvarado.

No woman in London, and few men, is more interested in London's museums than Queen Mary, who frequently puts in odd hours visiting such places, and who is declared to have a more intimate acquaintance with the contents of some of the art galleries than do the persons in charge.

GOVERNOR IS GETTING SELF IN CONDITION

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 14.—Let Calvin Coolidge have his mechanical horse. Al Smith has golf sticks, and Wilhelm of Doorn his buckswax. The governor of California will continue to take his exercise on an indoor bicycle!

Realizing that only by careful attention to his health can he keep up the terrific pace of state duties, Governor Young has gone in for physical training, the United Press is informed. And what's more, he has gone in for it with a vengeance!

Thrice weekly does the governor pay a call to his trainer, Jack Dod, who's no slouch of an athlete himself. For 10 years Dod was the light heavyweight wrestling champion of the world. And every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday Jack puts the governor through a program of exercise that would make Jack Dempsey himself puff.

Clad only in "gym" clothes, the governor goes through a routine on training days something like this:

1. Tosses a heavy medicine ball for 5 or 10 minutes.

2. Works on the "Venus machine" or chest and arm exerciser, lifting the handles 50 times.

3. Lifts a 40-pound dumbbell (a mechanical one), 100 times.

4. Peddles a stationary bicycle for two miles.

5. Continues the bicycle ride inside a steam cabinet, with the thermometer at 140 degrees and only his head sticking out.

Pink and pliable, the governor comes out of his "Turkish bath" for a 20-minute rubdown. At this point, one of his secretaries facetiously remarks, is where the trainer pulls the governor's leg?

With an appetite like a section hand, the governor goes home, spends several hours dictating his correspondence, goes to bed and sleeps like a log.

Jack Dod also goes to the governor's mansion twice a week, to give the executive his regular setting-up exercises and a rub-down.

Several weeks ago Governor Young took the Boy Scout oath at a large scout meeting in Sacramento. Escorted by the sons of his two secretaries—Wayte Whitmore, 21, and Keith Carlin Jr., 12—the governor pledged himself, among other things, "to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

Women Crowd In Spurgeon Theater For Cooking Class

things she is planning to do, in connection with her short but intensive cooking course, is teach the interested women how they may make most appetizing of dishes out of odds and ends left from a meal. That was to be the program for this afternoon and every housewife who ever has gazed despairingly at a couple of potatoes, a few scraps of cold roast and a handful of peas, wondering what under the heavens they would turn out to be if combined, will greet with joy the opportunity to learn how to combine them and offer a dish fit for a king.

"I dislike to offer the recipes that require an assortment of expensive foods," declared Miss Campbell. "My idea in conducting these classes is to offer appetizing and nutritious dishes, which may be prepared economically. I have attended courses where everything shown and explained called for expensive foods, and in trying the recipes afterwards the housewife would be faced with the necessity of stocking her pantry shelves with all sorts of expensive things. My aim is to give flavor and food value at as small an outlay as possible."

Miss Campbell taught in her own city of New York for about two years and then decided to go farther afield, and combine two interests—that of bringing aid to housewives and amateur cooks all over the country and, at the same time, see something of the world. For several months now she has confined her operations to the Pacific coast and is delighted with the reception accorded her and her work by the women of the west.

"I do not make my talks formal," she explained. "It defeats all my purposes to do so and it puts up a little barrier between me and the class. I like to have everything as informal and friendly a basis that the women will gather close and ask questions and start discussions. It is in this manner that the real work of such a class is accomplished."

Much appreciation for the cooperation received from Santa Ana merchants was expressed by Miss Campbell, who declared that the dining room equipment loaned for the course not only was complete and modern, but that it also expressed beauty and good taste. "The china absolutely is lovely and the furniture and other appointments offer an effect that really is quite delightful," she asserted.

While Miss Campbell was to devote this afternoon's talk to leftovers and "short cuts," she will discuss party refreshments tomorrow afternoon—a theme that will be certain to appeal to a Santa Ana audience, as this is a city noted for its hospitable affairs. Hostesses always are on the lookout for the new and original in serving. The teacher-lecturer promises some new and delightful dishes that will tempt the most fastidious and, at the same time, be easy to prepare. The classes will begin at 1 o'clock each afternoon.

How to Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

Many people have become dependent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moene's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any drugstore and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moene's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet powerful, liniment and ointment that lasts a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often entirely healed and those who have had them for many years have their money refunded. Santa Ana Drug Co. and C. E. Kelley sell lots of it.

Regular users of Moene's Emerald Oil say that it is the best liniment.

LONE EAGLE'S FUTURE PLANS ARE INDEFINITE

weather most of the way." Frequently he was unable to see the ground. The plane functioned perfectly.

He laughed when told that it was feared his takeoff at Columbia field, Havana, would be marred by engine trouble. The motor did sputter a bit, he admitted, but explained:

"I was just switching from one gas tank to another and flow to the carburetor was interrupted for a second or two. It was nothing."

No Motor Trouble

Lindbergh couldn't recall that he ever had motor trouble with the "Spirit of St. Louis." He was asked next why he did not take a parachute on his "two months" swing into Central and South America and back.

"Parachutes," he replied, "are useful in military maneuvers, formations and test flights and in air mail work, but I won't consider them of any particular use in straight away passenger flying of the type I have been doing."

"I consider it perfectly feasible to put a plane down safely without personal injury to the pilot, especially if the plane's gas tanks are in front of him, as they are in the "Spirit of St. Louis," and if the plane has a low landing speed."

"It is entirely feasible to make a landing in a tree without serious injury to the pilot. In most cases a safe landing can be made under the plane conditions I have outlined."

Could Have Landed Safely

It was apparent that he believed—and he said so—that he could have made a safe forced landing almost anywhere during his good will tour.

"What do you believe would have been the consequences of a forced landing of the "Spirit of St. Louis" during one of your over-water flights on the tour?" he was asked.

The famous Lindbergh smile immediately appeared. There was a suggestion of a "ducking," but Lindbergh parried:

"That's one I'll leave to you to answer."

His flights through Central and South America, he said, lead him to believe that commercial aviation there is "just as feasible" as it is in the United States.

Reverting to his flight from Havana, the "Lone Eagle" insisted that throughout the day, despite some of the worst flying weather of the winter, he experienced no discomfort and at no time lost his bearings.

Followed Mississippi

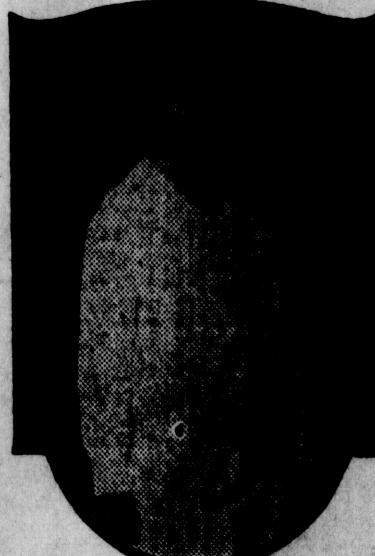

"I hit the Mississippi river about 30 miles south of St. Louis," he said, "and followed it until I reached the mouth of the Missouri, then swung west and south and picked up the field."

"No," he replied to a specific question, "I did not fly over Cairo, Ill., but I would have to consult my map to tell you exactly the route I did follow." Throughout the day he labored under a "low ceiling," which frequently obscured the horizon.

OIL WORKER KILLED IN H. B. ACCIDENT

Frank Hale, 22, of Long Beach, was fatally injured late Saturday, while working at the Brower well on the east side of Huntington Beach, a piece of machinery striking him on the head. He was rushed to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, but expired a short time after the accident.

An inquest was scheduled to be held this afternoon at the Dixon parlor in Huntington Beach, where the body was taken late Saturday.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon in Whittier.

AUTOMOBILES GO IN DITCH; NO ONE HURT

Two cars went into the ditch on a curve north of San Juan Capistrano Sunday, no one being injured in either accident, it is believed.

A heavy sedan landed in the ditch early Sunday morning. Guardsmen and police were unable to find a certificate of registration in the car, which was taken to a San Juan Capistrano garage. A few hours later a roadster went off the road on the same curve, the occupant, L. B. MacLaren, of San Pedro, being pinned beneath the car. Passing autoists removed the car.

What tasting showed Mrs. Betty Kelly about

Fried Foods

WE suggested to housekeepers that they taste Crisco—just as it comes from the can. Mrs. Betty Kelly wrote us how agreeably she was surprised when she made this test. But read her letter.

"I always thought that a cooking fat would be rather unpleasant to taste, but after reading your suggestion I decided just to try it myself."

"What a real surprise I got when I tasted Crisco. It is so good—such a fresh, pure taste."

"And the fact that Crisco does not smoke or make unpleasant odors in the kitchen makes it wonderful for deep frying."

If you have never tasted Crisco, we suggest that you do so. See if you do not get the same pleasant feeling that Mrs. Kelly did. We believe you'll understand why Crisco's sweet taste makes such an improvement in the flavor of your fried foods, cakes, biscuits and pies.

Try some of the recipes for fried foods given below. Just notice how the delicate, sweet flavor of Crisco has brought out to best advantage the natural flavors of these fried foods.

Fried Oysters Supreme

You can use all milk but the ketchup gives a tasty flavor. Don't be afraid to fry doughnuts in the same Crisco. You will not taste of the oysters. They will not taste of the oysters or anything else you may have fried. And neither will the oysters lose their delicate flavor if they are fried in Crisco which has been used for frying other foods.

After the completion of their radio sets and organs, the Radio Corporation of America, Inc., 111 North High street, has given the public the opportunity to receive a radio set, according to O. W. Nelson, manager.

The Sparrow radio is manufactured by the Radio Corporation of America, Inc., 111 North High street, and is the largest producer of high class commodity in the country for the past 24 years. The Sparrow electric horn.

All sets sold are all-electric sets and every part of the Sparrow sets are manufactured in one factory, in Jackson. The Sparrow people are pioneers of A. C. radio sets and are leaders in the market. The Sparrow corporation here, however, has the exclusive agency in Santa Ana.

"There are four outstanding points in favor of the Sparrow radio when considering a purchase of a radio set," Robertson said, today. "First, its A. C. tubes are guaranteed for one year against anything that can happen to them. Second, the channel is guaranteed for a lifetime and will be repaired free of charge at anytime, by the factory. Third, the tone quality, the selectivity and the distance range of a Sparrow set are not equalled in the price range and fourth, but not least, the dial-on-a-Sparrow set are so arranged that stations can be selected by wavelengths as well as by kilocycles, the dial containing both."

The tone of a Sparrow set is far better than many other sets of the same price, Robertson said. It is particularly noticeable when organ music is being received, he declared.

GIRL IS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Miss Thelma Showalter, Santa Ana, was reported injured at 9 o'clock last night, when the automobile in which she was riding with Ernest Cardwell, 627 Cypress street, collided with a telephone pole in the 600 block on North Broadway.

The girl was taken to a local physician's office where she was given medical treatment and then removed to her home. She is not thought to have been seriously hurt.

According to a report filed at the sheriff's office by Cardwell, lights from another machine blinded him and he drove the car into the pole.

A. C. Cale, Los Angeles, was reported seriously injured and 11-year-old Norval Iverson, Los Angeles, also was injured when the automobile in which they were riding with C. J. Iverson, 1263 Sydney Drive, Los Angeles, collided with another machine near El Toro, on the San Diego highway, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office.

Cale was brought to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where he is suffering from a crushed chest, it was reported.

Corona Woman Gets Judgment

Mrs. Sarah Baker, of Corona, had received a judgment against A. C. Bowens, of Santa Ana, today, totaling $10,000, the conclusion of a suit against him arising from an automobile wreck in July, 1926. Mr. W. Nelson also was a defendant.

A jury decided in her favor and added another thousand for Snowden W. Baker, her husband, making the total $12,000.

The crash occurred at the intersection of Red Hill road and Irvine boulevard.

Mrs. Baker told the jury she had suffered from torn ligaments in one leg making it shorter than the other.

Margaret Goepper, of Balboa, a passenger in the Bowens' car, also was injured, several ribs being broken. Her case against the Bakewells, in which she asked $6000, was tried at the same time. She failed to recover when the jury decided Bowens was responsible for the crash.

During the past week Stephenson has supervised the planting of 4000 Coulter pines which will have reached a respectable size in the course of four years, it is claimed.

J. H. Elliott, supervisor of the Cleveland forest, spent last week in supervising the same type of work in San Diego county.

The planting of the pines is the first step in the direction of a definite reforestation program which will keep the mountains of Orange county stocked with trees as the original ones are destroyed, either by fire or by the axe.

DESERT PLANTS

MIDDLE MARCH

Recalling that hundreds of residents of Orange county last year motored to the desert to see the display of wild flowers, W. S. Kellogg, director of nature study in the schools here, has written to the chamber of commerce at Palm Springs for information as to when the flowers in that vicinity may be expected at their best this year.

Philip L. Boyd, secretary of the chamber there, advises that the flowers should be at their best blooming about the middle of March. He pointed out that good rains this winter presaged a magnificent display of wild flowers.

Last year the greater number of persons driving from here found the most gorgeous beds in the vicinity of Palm Springs and Indio.

Kellogg was among the many who went from here and he has on exhibition at Frances Willard junior high school 30 different varieties, all identified as to name. The exhibit is open to the public and those who may contemplate a visit to the flower beds next month will gain good information as to names and colors of flowers by inspecting the display.

JOHNNY MOFFAT STEPS HURDLES IN FAST TIME

S. A. Track Captain Looms As Best Timber Topper In State Prep Circles

John Moffat, captain of the Santa Ana high school track team, today loomed as the premier hurdler in state intercollegiate ranks following a series of impressive workouts on the Poly oval in which he negotiated the 120-yard high hurdler in 16 seconds flat and the 220-yard low, hurdles in 25 seconds flat.

The clockings for both races are considered phenomenal for this early in the season. Moffat has not indulged in a single race against outside competition this term and yet he is already down below the best times with which he was accredited last spring.

Moffat's fast work over the high sticks was not such a surprise to the railbirds as the limber-shanked Poly pilot developed into a mean timber-topper last season. He was third in the All-Southern and was barely nosed out of a place at Modesto in the state meet despite an atrocious start. His best official time was 16 seconds.

Improvement is Plessing

He was never an outstanding low hurdler, however, and his improvement in the longer race has been especially pleasing to "Tex" Oliver, the Poly mentor, who has long been working on Moffat in this event. Moffat lacked endurance last year so he earnestly set about the task of building up his wind for the longer grind. How well he succeeded may be realized when it is known that his best time for the low sticks in 1927 was 27 seconds.

Moffat will run against some of the Southland's best hurdlers next Saturday at San Bernardino. Oliver has entered him in the open 120-yard high hurdles, an event in which college men as well as prepys are eligible, and the Poly ace will have to bend his back to "get in the money."

Full Team to Compete

A full Santa Ana squad will go to San Bernardino for the annual Orange Show Relay carnival which annually starts the track season in Southern California. Coach Oliver has enrolled virtually every runner on his list and as the local school will be represented in nearly every prep event on the card.

Races on the program include the 4-man, 440-yard novices and open relays; the 4-man, 880-yard novice and open relays; the 4-man, mile novice and open relays; the 4-man, 2-mile open relay and an open medley relay in which two men run 220 yards, one man runs 880 yards and one man runs a mile.

JULIA LATHROP TEAM TO MEET POLY "GEEPS"

The Julia C. Lathrop junior high school track team and the Santa Ana high school Class C team will get together tomorrow afternoon on the Poly track for their first meet of the season.

Coach Ferris Scott is planning on having several meets with different Class C squads about the county. Heretofore the ninth grade track athletes in the local junior high school system haven't had much of a chance to show their stuff, but things are different now.

The South Main street school has a new set of hurdles and a new pole vaulting outfit so that with the new equipment they hope to hold their own with any Class C outfit in the county.

Within the next two weeks Coach Scott will run off his annual inter-section track meet in which nearly every boy in the Lathrop school takes part. A seventh grade section won the championship last year but, according to the indications at present, it looks as though an eighth grade section would win.

MAIL-PEEKING SANTA MONICA ON VALENTINE DAY CHARMING

BY FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—Peeking into the mail of some of the leading lights of the boxing business today, one discovers just what a sentimental kind lot of big, overgrown boys they really are.

There was one perfectly charming one from Tex Rickard to Jack Dempsey, decorated with chubby pink cupids, wrapped in green backs and reading:

"Roses are red, violets are blue,
I wouldn't retire if I were you."

Gene Tunney's to Dave Barry, who refereed the Chicago fight, was in the best taste, showing the Shakespeare room at Yale university with the appropriate verse:

"I hope you'll remember me,
I hope you're feeling top notch,
You are the neatest man I know,
Especially with a stop watch."

Dempsey's mail was quite the heaviest of the lot. Tunney had not forgotten him. Gene adopted a more classic form of verse for his valentine to Jack, which read:

"Your eyes, dear heart
They mean a million bucks to me;

"If I can close them just once more,

"You see."

To which Jack replied:

"Will I be your valentine?
And take another licking?

"Why, Gona, for 400 'grand'

"I'll let you knock me kicking!"

Then there was James John.

SANTA MONICA IN VOLLEYBALL MATCH FRIDAY

The Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. volleyball team, which has been making a sensational record in its way-from-home games the past month, will be seen for the first time this season in a regular league game on its home floor Friday night when the San Bernardino "T" team comes here to meet the locals.

Physical Director R. B. Russek's fast aggregation has made a splendid start toward the championship. They have played three series of games on the road since the opening of their league schedule, and have won each series by a generous count; in their three starts they have played 15 games of which they have lost only one.

Friday evening's contest promises to be a stirring contest. It will be open to the public, and Ray Miles, captain of the team, states that the players will appreciate the attendance and support of their friends. There is no charge for admission, and women spectators will be welcome.

FRANCES WILLARD

Booster Club Program
The Willard Booster club held its regular monthly program last Wednesday and invited the girls to attend the meeting. The president of the Booster club, Bill Gibbs, presided and Gene Hall, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting.

Girls' Representative Chosen
A representative is appointed from each home room section for the Every Girl's club. The following representatives have been appointed: 6-a section, Lillian Hurwitz; 6-d section, Frances Mallars; 6-f section, Lucile Hayden; 6-g section, Fern Dusch; 5-i section, Pauline Wells; 5-h section, Faye McCurdy; 5-g section, Gertrude Chapman; 4-m section, Ruth Smedley; 4-l section, Marian Brownbridge; 4-j section, Thelma Ridgewood; 4-k section, Alida English; 3-p section, Edna Gross; 3-n section, Eleanor Wood; 2-s section, Dorothy Spicer; 2-q section, Lois Hunting; 1-x section, Ruth Cummings; 1-y section, Dorothy Wyckes; 1-w section, Ruth Baker.

The rest of the program was given over to W. A. Walton, representative of the Anti-Cigarette league, who gave a most instructive and interesting talk to the boys and girls on the dangers of tobacco and other narcotics. Mr. Walton has talked to the Frances Willard student body before and all those who had previously heard him were glad to welcome him to Willard again.

Every Girl's Club

Every Girl's club held an interesting meeting last Friday morning. Mrs. Thatcher opened the meeting with several announcements and then introduced Ethel Ellis, the new president, who presided over the rest of the program. She first installed the other new officers of the club who are as follows: vice-president, Eunice Hoffman; secretary, Esther Vogt; treasurer, Ruth Owens; reporter, Ruth Jenkins; cheer leaders, Barbara and Louise Rurup. The following new committees were appointed: program committee, Lillian Hurwitz, chairman; Mildred Spicer, Betty Hawk, Dorothy Dula, Evelyn Adams, social committee, Thelma Johnson, chairman; Frances Mallars, Mary Fitzpatrick, Betty Hall, Ruth Crowley; Rest Room committee, Katherine Robbins, chairman; Margaret Fine, Elma McBride, Betty Paul, and Gertrude Chapman, flower committee; Mabel Johnston, chairman; Elizabeth Downie, Bernice Linger, Velma Smith, and Peggy Vander Bruggen, social service committee; Thelma Jackson, chairman; Betty Smedley, Margaret Guthrie, Charlene Lowell, and Nadine Carrick.

After the business meeting the girls staged a mock trial which proved most interesting. Charlene Lowell was accused as maliciously, willfully and with evil intent of taking a cold, which was considered as civic property. Her attorney, Armine Crawford, stated that the act was performed in self-defense. Witnesses for the prosecution were Mary Fitzpatrick and Betty Hawk. Witnesses for the defense were Mary Helen Bell and Dorothy Johnson. The jury found the defendant guilty and the judge passed a sentence of $10 or 10 days, whereas the prisoner said she would like to take the $10.

Carrie Kimball from Roosevelt school gave a charming costume dance. The seventh grade girls glee club sang two numbers which were greatly appreciated. The last number on the program was a delightful piano solo by Esther Vogt, after which the girls gave some spirited yells led by the two new yell leaders, Barbara and Louise Rurup.

Basket Ball Letters
Last Friday during the rally assembly, Miss Plavan gave letters to the basket ball girls who were entitled to them in each division. The seniors who received letters were Beulah Cone, Ida Mae McWhorter, Alma McDonald, Thelma Fitzsimmons, Thelma Jackson, Josephine Herman, Virginia Vaughn, Gertrude Chapman and Jean Bishop. Intermediates winning their letters were Harriet Vance, Charles Lowell, Margaret Huston, Frances Mallars, Edna Hicks, Helen Stauffer, Mary Helen Bell, Marie Roehls, and Emma Wetton. Juniors receiving letters were Norma Whittington, Alida English, Elizabeth Downie, Natalie Neff, Betty Hall, Dorothy Dula, Evelyn Smith and Beth Filpen.

Frances Willard
Mrs. F. H. Heine, president of Frances Willard P.T.A., introduced Mrs. Tom Hubbard as soloist at the latest meeting of the association. Mrs. Hubbard sang two wonderful songs, "Gypsy Love Song" and "The Swallow," with Mrs. Sexton as accompanist.

Merle Tuttle gave two enjoyable readings, "Entertaining Sister's Beau" and "How We Tried to Whip the Teacher." Mrs. Walter Fine had charge of the birthday program, and everyone joined in singing well-known songs, after which the history of the P.T.A. in Santa Ana was discussed. Mrs. Steward talked of some of the accomplishments of the association in the past few years, including aid given the juvenile home and the circulating library.

Mrs. Heine followed with remarks about the aid given Red Cross work during the war and later during the typhoid epidemic. Mr. Archer talked on the playgrounds and their history, telling of the increase from a single playground in 1914, to the present seven. He also stated that the idea had grown beyond the P.T.A. and should be taken over by the city.

Mr. Kellogg gave his views of P.T.A. work, and stated that the Willard organization was the largest in the city and the best attended. He told of how much easier it is to keep in touch with the children since the founding of the association. Miss Vanche Plumb told of the extension work to which a part of the dues is devoted, and the aid given education in out-of-the-way places.

Mrs. Thatcher invited the mothers of new pupils in the school, to join the association and then all enjoyed refreshments served by a group of grade mothers, Mrs. B. B. Walbridge, Mrs. H. S. Hicks, Mrs. W. Piess, Mrs. J. H. Gray and Mrs. Carl Heim.

Roosevelt

Roosevelt P.T.A. held its February meeting in the kindergarten room of the school Tuesday, Feb. 7. Mrs. Cribaro, the president, opened the meeting with silent prayer after which the mothers sang "America the Beautiful."

Following was the usual Founders Day program including the lighting of a large birthday cake upon which were thirty-one candles in honor of the 21 years since the organization was founded. Mrs. Snow gave a splendid talk on the growth and founding of the National Congress of Mothers. The regular business followed and the meeting closed with a delightful social period during which those present enjoyed birthday cake and tea.

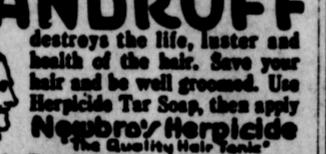

Diamond

The Diamond P.T.A. held a birthday party at the school Thursday afternoon in honor of the 31st anniversary of the Founder of the P.T.A. A program was presented by the pupils giving songs and recitations, also men's selections. After which Mrs. Blake was asked to light the birthday cake bearing 31 gleaming blue and yellow candles. When all had enjoyed the lighted cake they adjourned to the reception room for a social hour and to partake of cake and tea, served by Mrs. James Van Der Wolf, and Mrs. Robert Shields. The next meeting will be held the second Thursday in March.

Infant Care

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless and reliable, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill throughout the system. Prejudices and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what it needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, and without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. Castoria is delicious! Your own tongue will tell you why "Children Cry for It."

Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Only one word of warning: the above is true of genuine Castoria; Fletcher's is the original. Other preparations may or may not be

JULIA LATHROP

There is an interesting display in the show cases this week. The girls in the home making classes have each designed and furnished a complete bedroom set. Curtains, rugs, lamps and furniture have been made by the girls themselves and many of the sets are very clever, indeed.

Miss Blythe's high eighth classes have been having a series of reading contests to determine the best reader in each class.

The Lineup staff under the supervision of Miss Blythe is conducting a drive for student body dues, in each English class. A member from each class was chosen to speak before the class urging the students to pay their dues, which entitles them to the Lineup. It is hoped that enough people will pay their dues so that the Lineup can be issued every week in place of once every two weeks.

Complete Wheel and Tire Service and a

Complete Stock of The GENERAL TIRE

Fully prepared to serve the entire county and offer them complete wheel and tire service and a complete stock of General Dual-Grip Tires. We have one of the most modern and up-to-date shops in Orange County. Once you have tried our service you will know that it is worth while to bring your car here.

Solid and Pneumatic Tire Service

Every kind of tire is serviced and repaired in our tire shop. Our vulcanizing equipment is the best we can get and leaves no mar or mark upon the tread or fabric. In fact, it is hard to find the place that has been repaired.

Remove Shimmy From Cars

We also remove the shimmy from cars and every job carries a money-back guarantee. We also make the cars steer easier and run smoother.

Proper Sized Tires for Your Car

This means more miles and less trouble for you. We are in a position to take your present tires, new or old, and give you proper sized General Tires, with very little cost to you. Why not buy Generals on terms to suit you? You will have these tires long after you have paid for them.

We guarantee that there is not one ounce of reclaimed rubber in General Tires or Tubes.

For All the Tire Troubles You Have

In Santa Ana we are the pioneers in the sale and service of Balloon Tires. Since the introduction of Balloon Tires we have corrected "Toe," "Caster," "Camber," "Hard Steering" and "Shimmy" in more than three thousand cars; therefore, our experience guarantees our knowledge. We recommend that all the straightening be done cold. Timken Axle company of Detroit states that 40% of axle strength is lost when heated. Our work costs you nothing if you are not satisfied. We will be glad to check your wheels at no cost.

Wholesale and Retail

Our position as exclusive Orange County Distributors for the General Cord Tires enables us to offer tires for both the wholesale and retail trade. Very low prices to all customers.

Will Honor Founders Of Seal Beach.

SEAL BEACH. Feb. 14.—Plans are being formed to observe February 20 as Founders' day in Seal Beach, with an appropriate gathering in the evening in honor of the pioneers who made Seal Beach possible.

A committee to arrange for the affair will be composed of a representative from the chamber of commerce, Woman's club, Altar society, Ladies' Aid society, Masonic lodge and school board, that it may be a truly representative gathering. Speakers for the occasion will include men of prominence during the early days.

SIX HELD AT H. B. ON DRUNK CHARGES

HUNTINGTON BEACH. Feb. 14.—Three persons were arrested on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors, six were arrested on charges of being intoxicated and one person was lodged in the city jail on a charge of reckless driving.

Mrs. Estelle Coleman, 30; H. Coleman, 28; R. J. Cancross, 24, and Mrs. J. C. Noel, 24, all of San Pedro, were arrested in a downtown alley by Officers W. L. Evans and W. Y. Wood. Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Noel and Cancross were charged with being intoxicated and posted $25 bail each to insure their appearance in court here today. Coleman posted $250 bail to insure his appearance in court on a reckless driving charge.

J. D. Farris, 25, Orange feed store merchant; P. M. Lessoth, 24, local oil worker, and G. S. Smithson, 29, local oil worker, were arrested on charges of being intoxicated. Lessoth and Smithson posted bail of $25 each and were released.

Joseph Hammond, 18, and Lloyd Dye, 18, both of Costa Mesa, and Hugh Wells, 25, of Newport Heights, were lodged in jail on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors. According to police, the three men were arrested upon complaints of local persons. They are alleged to have given liquor to young girls. The girls' parents made the complaint, according to police.

School Clubs In Orange Convene

ORANGE. Feb. 14.—A number of school clubs held their regular monthly meeting at the Orange union high school today.

The Spanish club had as its principal speaker, Juan Garcia, of El Modena. Mr. Garcia has been in this country but a few months and gave an interesting talk on Mexico. Miss Genevieve Conger is the faculty advisor of the club.

The German club opened its meeting with the singing of German songs. The theme for the afternoon was "The Erlkoenig." Helen Meyers told the story, which was written by Goethe.

Olive P.-T. A. In Program Feb. 21

OLIVE. Feb. 14.—The P.-T. A. of the grammar school is planning a Father's night February 21. A pot luck dinner and program will be features of the evening's entertainment, which is being arranged under the direction of Mrs. E. T. Watson.

Orange Arranges Players' Banquet

ORANGE. Feb. 14.—Girl Re- serves and members of the basketball teams and football teams are to be banqueted at the Woman's club February 15. It is expected that Coach Kohlmoor of Occidental college will be present.

BOGOTA, the Colombian capital, is now going to begin with San Andres and spend some $280,000 on harbor improvements. Hitherto it has satisfied itself in sending over an intendente, or military governor. Sometimes he was sent as a political favor and then sometimes he was sent because the powers that be in Bogota thought it would be a better place for him, far from Colombian politics.

The speaker asserted that Lincoln's fame is still growing, and that in this respect it was different from that of any other great man.

PIATES were laid for Thelma Rainey, Ercilia Bullock, Alice Hall, Curtis Glen, Louis Rainey, Rex Almond and John Rainey.

Santa Ana Artist Is Accorded Splendid Recognition

Evelyn Nunn Miller, formerly of this city, but now of Los Angeles, rising young California artist of whom Santa Ana is so proud, made a flying visit here yesterday, with her mother, Mrs. M. A. Nunn, 202 North Ross street, and incidentally, showed a few of her friends an account of a picture of hers which has found place in the thirty-seventh annual exhibit of paintings and sculptures, in the National Gallery of Art, United States National museum, Washington, D. C.

The exhibit is of the work of representative American artists, and occupies three galleries of the museum, where it is sponsored by the Society of Washington Artists. Most of the work is by eastern painters, but Mrs. Miller and Leila Tuckerman of California, have each been given place. The honor came to Mrs. Miller as a surprise, as the picture has been loaned to the American Federation of Artists for the past year, and that organization submitted it to the judges so that the first knowledge that she had of its being accepted and hung, was in the newspaper account that reached her.

"Last Lights on Rainier" is the picture's title, and the reviewer pronounced it a "snow-capped mountain picture, vigorously rendered". It is one of two studies of Rainier done by Mrs. Miller two years ago, the other having taken first place at the California State Fair in Sacramento, the authority of the American Federation of Artists for the past year, and that organization submitted it to the judges so that the first knowledge that she had of its being accepted and hung, was in the newspaper account that reached her.

St. Valentine Offers
Opportunity to Tell
Engagement

St. Valentine secrets of special charm were disclosed Saturday evening, when Miss Florence Lutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Lutz of 1126 East Seventeenth street, informed a little group of friends, of her engagement to Ted Rasmussen, young business man of Whittier.

The announcement was made at an enjoyable party during which the bevy of girls played rook. The game yielded prizes for both high and low score. Miss Adele Lutz taking first prize of a silver compact, and Miss Grace Gettles, low, a red satin box of valentine candies.

Asked to the dining-room at the close of the evening, the guests found a charmingly arranged table whose snowy centerpiece was pierced by many arrows. From these, bright red ribbons led to each place, and when they were drawn, brought forth an arrow for each. On the arrows were the messages of the betrothal. Miss Lutz was asked for further details, but refused to say just when the wedding would be. She is a student at Whittier college where she is taking an educational course preparatory to teaching. She is a graduate of Santa Ana high school and junior college.

Mr. Rasmussen also attended Whittier college, but is now associated with his father in the ornamental iron business.

After the group of guests had learned of the engagement, and such plans as their hostess was willing to divulge, they turned their attention to the enjoyment of a refreshing salad accompanied by heart-shaped sandwiches and cheese straws, followed by heart-centered ice cream, cake and coffee, all served to the accompaniment of soft candle light. Mrs. Lutz assisted her daughter in hostess duties, and in serving the refreshments.

In the party in addition to Miss Lutz and her sister, Miss Helen Lutz, were the Misses Adele and Dorothy Lutz, Pearl Oberlin, Grace Gettles, Florence Hoefer, Mrs. Ralph Barnhart, and Mrs. Lloyd Shields of this city, Miss Grace Dilley, Miss Lydia Rasmussen and Miss Peggy Keating of Whittier. Miss Keating remained for the week-end in the Lutz home.

Santa Ana Harpist
Appears on Programs

Miss Ruth Oakes returned yesterday from Glendale where she went Sunday to give a short harp program at the Glendale First M. E. church Sunday night. The Rev. Will A. Betts, former pastor of Santa Ana First M. E. church, occupies the Glendale pulpit, and it was through him as her former pastor, that Miss Oakes gave the program.

She has been in much demand lately as harpist at various social affairs, among them a smart bridge luncheon of the past week, given at the Mission Inn tea room, Fullerton.

Enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Sievers, were Mr. and Mrs. F. Alder, Mr. and Mrs. B. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. J. Nagel, Mr. and Mrs. F. Pique, Mrs. Eva Fitzpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. A. Meyer, Dr. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. O'Neill, of Los Angeles.

Especially interesting groups by classic and modern composers were featured, duo and solo numbers giving evidence of ability and development of technique. Among other numbers were the Corelli Sonata, rendered by Eleanor Miller, Haydn's Sonata for violin and viola, by Marion Nau; while Pauline Wienawski's "Lagende."

Other pupils taking part on the program included Loraine Turk, Mary Haegler, Robert Woodside, Bruce Drake, Helen Meeler, Anna Tisiani, Benjamin Hester, Chisholm Brown, John Fainborg, William Rasmussen, James Daneri, Ruth Newman, Mary Matler, Helen Tannenbaum, Peggy Warburton, Rose Marie Smith, and Dorothy Lutz.

Accompaniments were played by Miss Allen Lair, Miss Bonnie Sutherland, Mrs. A. Tannenbaum, Mrs. A. Turk and Miss Elizabeth M. Peters.

George Puntenney who is a student at the University of Arizona, has returned to this city to assist his father, Dr. G. A. Puntenney of 918 French street.

Mrs. Miller had the advantage of study in Japan under one of the leading artists of that country, and the Japanese influence has often been remarked in her work. She recently had the pleasure of meeting the new Japanese consul in Los Angeles, Mr. Mitsusawa, himself an artist, and who remembered her work from her studios in Tokio a few years ago.

Entertained at Gay
Evening Affair

The always fascinating valentine motif was used by Mrs. E. E. Sievers last Saturday evening, when she and Mr. Sievers greeted members of the D. D. club, at their home, 225 Flower street.

Scarlet flowers combined with equally vivid valentine appointments, added a holiday charm to the home, and formed a cheery background for card tables. When scores were tallied at the close of the contest, Mrs. J. Nagel and Dr. Brown proved to be victorious, and each as suitably rewarded.

Sweet peas in artistic baskets were placed in the center of each linen draped table, for serving the delectable valentine supper prepared by the hostess. Other decorative appointments emphasized the season of true lovers.

Enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Sievers, were Mr. and Mrs. F. Alder, Mr. and Mrs. B. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. J. Nagel, Mr. and Mrs. F. Pique, Mrs. Eva Fitzpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. A. Meyer, Dr. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. O'Neill, of Los Angeles.

An especially pleasing studio recital was presented in the reception rooms of Santa Ana Conservatory of Music last Friday evening, before an appreciative audience of friends, by violin pupils of Edward H. Bear, head of the school's violin department.

Especially interesting groups by classic and modern composers were featured, duo and solo numbers giving evidence of ability and development of technique. Among other numbers were the Corelli Sonata, rendered by Eleanor Miller, Haydn's Sonata for violin and viola, by Marion Nau; while Pauline Wienawski's "Lagende."

"Look Prettiest When Washed"

Gay Birthday Party
Is Presented As Surprise

His fifty-second birthday will long remain in the mind of Charles F. L. Kaufmann, 1809 East First street, for its celebration was so happy an affair, that it set the day apart as one of sheer enjoyment.

Mrs. Kaufmann was responsible for the success of the party honoring her husband, and in planning it without his knowledge, suggested that they visit the Mabel Rockwell studio on Saturday night, and see the progress made in dancing, by their daughter, Miss Tusneida Kaufmann. Mr. Kaufmann agreed, with no thought that there were deep plans afoot, so the birthday wishes and congratulations greeting his arrival at the studio, were his first intimation that he was being complimented at a party. A merry evening followed, with various entertainment features added to dancing. The Delgado Brothers' orchestra furnished dance music, and Edward Delgado sang several much-appreciated solos with Miss Ruth Frothingham as his accompanist. Miss Frothingham also accompanied Mrs. Williams Bridges and Mrs. Blitsen in a pretty duet. Two exhibition dances added to the enjoyment and were presented by Mrs. Johnson and Ben Sargent of Los Angeles.

Iced fruit punch was served throughout the evening, and at a late hour, sandwiches, coffee, home-made cookies and other enjoyable things were served.

Sharing the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Kaufmann, and offering cordial birthday wishes to the former, were members of their family, Miss Tusneida Kaufmann of the home, and Mr. and Mrs. Waller Kaufmann of Balboa Island; and Mrs. Mabel Rockwell who assisted in all details of entertaining; Miss Ruth Frothingham, Mr. and Mrs. John Luxemburger and son, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coleman, Miss Rose Delgado, of this city; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McCandless and Mr. and Mrs. Anton Herschel of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Weindorf, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Blitsen and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnson, Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Clapp, Laguna; Mr. and Mrs. William Bridges and Ben Sargent, Los Angeles. Anton Herschel and Charles Weindorf are nephews of the host.

Ebell Society

Music Section
An interesting review of Verdi's opera, "Rigoletto," was given yesterday by Mrs. C. F. Cross at a meeting of the Ebell music section held at the club house.

Following Mrs. Cross's talk on the opera, Miss Josephine Durgen sang "Caro Nome" the aria, from "Rigoletto." She was accompanied by Miss Ruth Bower of Orange. Miss Mabel Krause played "The Pilgrim's Chorus" from "Tanhauser," and Neat Pritchett sang "Plume" by the Summer Wing" from the third act of "Rigoletto." Miss Krause accompanied him. The famous Rigoletto Quartet was sung by Miss Alice Folsom, Mrs. Harry Hayes, Neat Pritchett and Holmes Bishop.

The hostess served one of her famous menus, and enjoying it were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips, Mrs. Robert Northrop and Leonard Baker. The after-dinner period was, as usual when this particular group assembles, of "chips and shoes and sealin'-wax."

MAMIE, TOO!
I do resent the whole acceptance which society classes gives this "wealthy, well-educated, cultured" widow for conventional act, while doing any similar experiment a part of girls without which should give even opportunity to live conventionally. We never heard a more striking example of "toadism." Her, if you like, but accept Schmoits at the ribbon, too.

WHAT'LL SHE DO?
Meat may be baked in 60 and a steel broiled in half by a new principle of cooking which creates interest and which is now being reflected in London. Many will ask "What is the use?" These are the people very sure that housekeepers this "modern day of science" is a grand cinch. But I doubt in the world that many years the average baker will find plenty to do she can bake a potato or steak in a second or so. It was been very impatient theory that the average baker didn't have enough time to keep her busy.

BREAKFAST — Chilled apple sauce, cereal cooked with dates, cream, cornmeal pancakes, syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Dried lima beans baked with bacon and tomatoes, brown bread, stuffed kumquat salad, ginger cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER — Braised lamb, baked potato marbles, head lettuce with Russian dressing, jellied oranges with whipped cream, milk, coffee.

Braised Lamb — Two and one-half or three pounds lamb, 1 cup diced carrots, 1 cup diced turnip, 1-2 cup diced celery, 1 onion, 2 teaspoons salt, parsley.

Trim lamb carefully removing all skin. Dredge with flour and roast in a covered roaster until about half done. This will take about one hour. The meat should be evenly browned. Add vegetables, sprinkling them over the meat in alternating layers and pour in at one side of the pan one cup of boiling water. Cover and roast until the vegetables are done. Serve on a hot platter surrounded with vegetables and sprinkle with minced parsley.

The onion should be cut in thin slices.

PREPARE PLANS FOR TRIAL OF PHIL GOODWIN

TUSTIN P.-T.A. TO EXHIBIT PICTURES

With the second trial of the Rev. Phillip A. Goodwin for the murder of J. J. Patterson, Los Angeles bond broker, but one week away, plans are being made today by the office of Z. B. West, district attorney, for the immediate return here of Dewey Gaines, Utah cowboy, whose testimony is believed to have been chiefly responsible for Goodwin's conviction in 1926.

Gaines is at Folsom, where he was sent after he was found guilty of participating in the crime. Considerable speculation has been heard as to how Gaines will act on the witness stand at his second appearance. It has been pointed out that he can forget very easily the events of two years ago if he chooses to do so. He is serving a life sentence at Folsom and has nothing to lose, it is said, even if he tells an entirely different story.

Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodget is checking up on the 78 exhibits of the state used in Goodwin's former trial. Patterson's skull being included in the list.

Goodwin's attorney, Buel Wood, of Los Angeles, has been a frequent visitor at the county jail, where the man who was saved from the strip of the noose by a Supreme court decision to grant him a new trial, is awaiting a second hearing. Goodwin and Wood promise plenty of surprises when the case comes up. The American Catholic church priest is just as confident as ever that ultimately he will be freed.

EVENING SALUTATION
When I die my star shall drop
Singing like a nightingale;
When I die my soul shall rise
Where the lyre-strings never fail;
In the rose my blood shall lie,
In the violet the smile,
And the moonbeams thousand strong
Past my grave each night shall file.

NEWS AND NEWSPAPERS

A policy of handling news of international interest so as to eliminate dispatches of an unnecessarily provocative or misleading character was urged by several speakers at a meeting of the Foreign Policy Association in New York the other day. A reference was made to the novel experiment of the Christian Science Monitor of "cutting new patterns for its news" which introduces a moral order into journalism.

The experiment isn't very new. Its novelty lies wholly in the kind of patterns which the Christian Science Monitor cuts. The Hearst publications have another pattern. But the Christian Science Monitor can hardly be compared with any other newspaper any more than a soda fountain can be compared with a restaurant. A newspaper is a publication which prints happenings in the world. The Christian Science Monitor does not print all the happenings in the world any more than the United States Daily prints all the news. The United States Daily prints only news of government matters, happenings and findings connected with congress, with the various bureaus in Washington, and among the diplomats. It doesn't fulfill all the service of a daily newspaper.

A newspaper, in order to fulfill its complete functions, must give a complete cross-section of all the world's happenings, locally and more remote, so as to inform the reader of what is going on about him along all lines of human activity. We all of us realize that the Christian Science Monitor does not attempt this. No well-informed man living even in Boston could pretend to be conversant with what is transpiring if he were to confine his reading to that one publication. He would have to take another newspaper of his city to have that information. It partakes more of the nature of a magazine, issued daily, however. It can cover a wider field and be more up-to-date than a monthly or weekly.

HOOVER ENTERS OHIO

Secretary Hoover has formally become a candidate for the presidency. He enters the Ohio primaries as was expected. Senator Frank B. Willis is not evidencing the greatest confidence of the outcome. He is too threatening to inspire one with confidence.

Fred W. Warner, chairman of the Republican central committee of Ohio made this statement:

"The action of the Central Committee for Senator Willis had but one object, that of keeping some semblance of order in the state."

This certainly does not indicate by any means, that the central committee was for Mr. Willis. Very apparently they were for the political machine; they wanted to select the delegates to the national convention; they wanted to control them while there, and so, as Mr. Warner says, their only object was to keep some semblance of order in the state; they don't want to lose them.

Now Mr. Warner and the others who are after order, may have to change their tactics. What worries them is the fact that Mr. Hoover may win out. If he does, he will do it in spite of them and not with their help. If they could have selected the delegates and could have swung them in at the proper moment at the convention, they would have expected their reward. Mr. Willis is an amiable, popular man whom the committee was expecting to use for this purpose. It is too bad that Senator Willis has not seen through the whole program and refused to be a party to it.

REFORMING ST. VALENTINE'S DAY

And now we have an organization to reform St. Valentine's day. St. Valentine's day is one of the great card-exchanging anniversaries of the year. It is usually a great frolic. Red paper hearts, cupids with bows, vulgar and grotesque plays on love, and comics—these are some of the evidences of the celebration.

The move is to refine the day, to make it worthy of the great and high sentiment of love of which it is the festival. Ministers have been asked to preach on it. School men have been asked to find a place for a sane celebration of the day in the school exercises. Love, marriage, and parenthood are wrapped up in the celebration. The American Social Hygiene association has started to make it the occasion for the extension of its propaganda, by re-printing a paragraph by David Starr Jordan, written some years ago, entitled "Your After Self," in which the young man and the young woman is urged to shape their younger lives so their after lives may realize the man or the woman they should have been.

This is one of the signs of the times. It is an effort to use every occasion and every device to improve the race. It is a commendable purpose. But how much it will alter the character of the day which has been fixed and hardened by generations of a peculiar usage remains to be seen. At any rate, here's to a joyous St. Valentine's day, with all the exquisite joys that come from a sentiment which lies deep and permanent in human life.

A NOTABLE SERVICE

The American Library association publishes a bulletin each month which gives the title and a brief abstract of some fifteen or twenty of the best magazine articles which are current that particular month. Those who heed the counsel of that bulletin may keep abreast of the best magazine literature of the day, and incidentally become informed of almost every phase of thought which is current.

This is a busy age. There are scores of good articles in a score or more of national magazines. The average man cannot begin to look over the contents of them all, to say nothing about reading them all. To have a service like this in every library reading room in which the magazines are carried is rendering a high service to the reading public who are not in a position to make an intelligent selection for themselves.

We have magazines which give digests of the magazine literature of the month, but a digest can never give the completeness of the whole article. Take such an article as one cited in this bulletin, printed in the December Atlantic Monthly, "Rich Men or Key Men," or "Tact," by John Erskine, in the December number of the Century—one needs to read the whole article to get its real worth. It is a public favor to call the attention of the reading public to such a service.

Shifting Industries

Long Beach Press-Telegram
Spindles continue to move from New England to the cotton belt. Announcement is made that one of the great plants in Lowell, Mass., will transfer a large share of its operations to Anderson, S. C. What might be termed a migratory expansion program for this concern began two years ago. It is only one of many northern textile plants that have changed the scene of their activities, or at least have accepted opportunities to establish themselves in Dixieland.

During 1926, 66 per cent of the cotton consumption in the United States was by Southern mills, which reported 60 per cent of the active spindle hours. In 1900, the South had less than 25 per cent of the total cotton manufacturing trade in America. Other industrial enterprises also have been attracted to the Southern states, and now it is reported in official statistics that the total manufactured output of that region is nearly double the value of its agricultural products.

Explanation for this movement is not found in a single factor. Raw materials are at hand, to be sure. But there are other reasons, such as climatic, living and labor conditions. Waterpower is cheap.

Added to these advantages, the Pacific Coast offers as an attraction for factories, mills and other industries, an expanding domestic market and a gateway to the Orient, as well as cheap water transportation to any part of the globe, including the Atlantic seaboard of the United States. California grows cotton and wool and lather, three major staples in the manufacturing field. It has many other products of soil and mine.

These influences are at work, drawing branch and main plants from Eastern and Central States to the Pacific Southwest. In another quarter of a century the changes will be even more striking than those which have transformed the South.

"Even As You and I"

Imperial Valley Press
Human nature is mighty odd, and in no field does its oddity shine forth any more strongly than among sports followers.

In a recent nation wide contest to decide the most popular athlete, conducted through 135 newspapers in all parts of the country, Jack Dempsey captured first place with nearly double the number of votes given his nearest competitor "Babe" Ruth.

To us the odd feature of the contest was that Walter Johnson, the idol of millions of baseball fans, brought up the rear with less than one-twentieth the number of votes cast for Dempsey.

This appears to be overwhelming proof of Dempsey's popularity. He has been no worse than many others who have followed his particular line of sport, perhaps he is better than the majority. But the fact remains that there have been several blots on his public and private life—even his ethics in the ring have been condemned by lovers of fair play.

Johnson, on the other hand, is something of a Lindbergh in the sport world. Telling away the best years of his life with a tail-end baseball team, he never sulked as so many of his fellow-players, of considerably less ability, have done. On the field of sport and off, Johnson has been the type of man that compels the admiration of his fellowmen. He is the sort of man other men like to hold up to their boys as a model. Perhaps, as mothers usually have a little stronger feeling for the "black sheep" of the family, it is natural for us to overlook the faults of our idols.

Whatever results the figures in this particular contest may show, it is a certainty that more fathers would rather have their sons model after Johnson than after Dempsey—but the fathers will probably vote for Dempsey, just the same. Proof again that human nature is a very odd commodity.

ROSIE'S TEMPER

There was no use denying it, the baby had a temper. Good old fashioned temper inherited from both sides. Funny as could be to see her throw her bottle on the floor and kick and scream like a fury when ever you made believe take it away from her. Cunny thing. Terrible temper.

When Rosie was three years old it was an entertaining sight to see her storm and scold and threaten when you made believe you were going to bite her or strike her or take her toys. At the slightest sign of approach to her or her possessions she would stiffen up and utter a scream of defiance and then go into a tearing rage. Terrible temper for one of her age. Just like Grandfather Green, Grandmother White, too. O, she came by it honestly, all right.

Along about five and a half it was not so pleasant to have Rosie go into a tantrum when you approached her or her possessions. She went into tantrums at inconvenient times, she flew into a rage even when you wanted her to do the most reasonable things like eating her dinner or washing her face or letting the doctor look at her throat. And she fought so with the neighbor's children. Nothing but trouble all day long. Well, school would fix her. The teacher would take that out of her pretty quick.

But you know, the teacher didn't seem to make much headway. When the lass took their chair and sat down in a circle to enjoy a story or a song Rosie would be sure to start trouble and then have a tantrum and the teacher would very gently and firmly lead her out of the room and send for her mother to take her home.

"Rosie has such a violent temper and so little control over it that we are afraid to have her with so many other children. She will have to be taken home and kept there until she gets some sort of control over herself."

Painfully, as one carrying a heavy cross, Rosie made her way from class to class. She was fourteen the other day and about half way through school. She lost much time because she had to stop so often to control her temper. At home they still talked of it with certain admiration. "Chip off the old block. But goodness, such a temper. Won't put anything over on Rosie. But isn't it awful?"

It was. Rosie slapped a child on the street. The child's father spoke to Rosie's mother. Said Rosie's mother, "She has a perfectly awful temper and we can't do a thing with her. She's been like that since she was born. Perfectly awful temper."

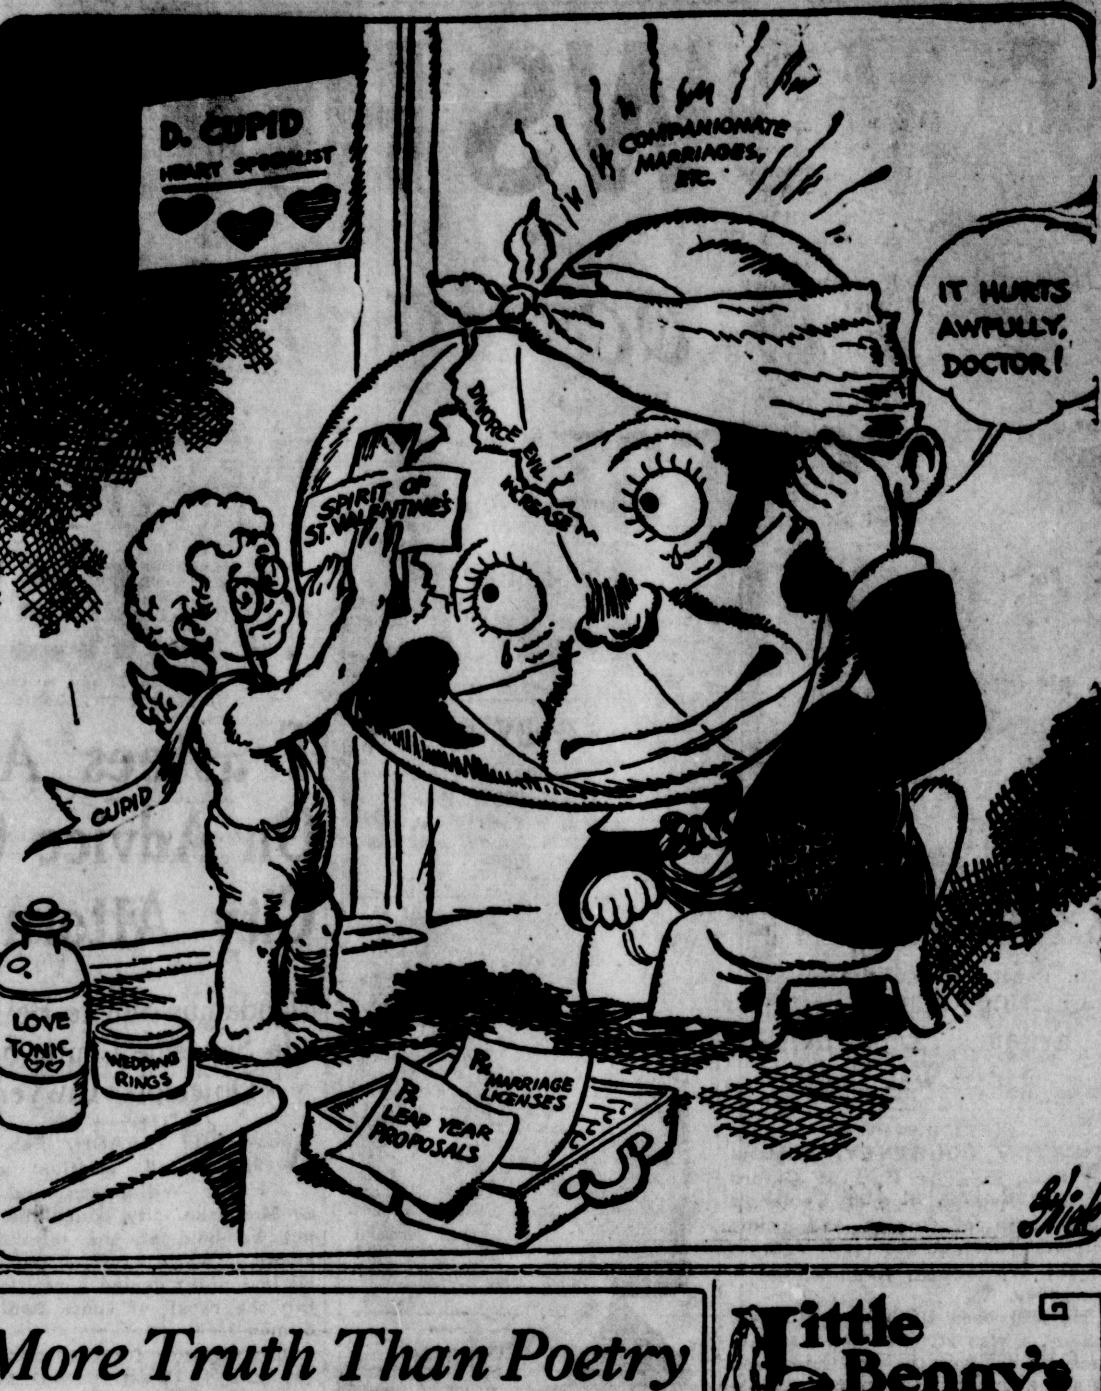

"Indeed," said the stern neighbor. "You can't do anything with her, eh? Well I'll try what I can do," and he had Rosie brought to the juvenile court as an incorrigible girl.

And how could you tell the judge about all those days and months and years when bad temper had been cultivated in Rosie by teasing and praising and admiring and fostering all that was unfit in the child's temperament? How could you explain for Rosie? How could you help save by placing her in a school away from home? And court proceedings to place her there? Too bad.

not in a position to make an intelligent selection for themselves.

We have magazines which give digests of the magazine literature of the month, but a digest can never give the completeness of the whole article. Take such an article as one cited in this bulletin, printed in the December Atlantic Monthly, "Rich Men or Key Men," or "Tact," by John Erskine, in the December number of the Century—one needs to read the whole article to get its real worth. It is a public favor to call the attention of the reading public to such a service.

St. Valentine's RegisterWell, It's Never Too Late to Mend*More Truth Than Poetry

MISTAKEN KINDNESS

A movement is on foot to stop the killing of hawks and owls.

For days and days I've often strode,
For days and days I've often strode,
My trusty gun in hand;
Through woods where hawks and owls abide
And shot them out of hand,
Responding to the rhyming words,
I'd learned in days of yore,
Which bade me to protect the birds
That sang about my door.

For hawks and owls, as well I knew
By daylight and by dark
With cruel beak and talon slew
The robin and the lark.
I meant to leave no blinking owls
Nor swooping hawks alive
So that the little singing fowls
Forever might survive.

For years I took no end of pride,
To think throughout the land,
That many birds of prey had died
By my avenging hand.
I thought bird lovers everywhere
Would hail my name with glee
And toss their hats and caps in air
In gratitude to me.

Alas! I learn to my alarm
That all those owls and hawks
That I have shot did little harm,
Despite their hoots and squawks.
The friends of birds now at my stare
With stern reprobary scowl
And loudly cry, how could you dare
To shoot those hawks and owls?

SAINT VALENTINE

There are all sort of saints in the calendar, saints for this and saints for that. But the saint that is especially to be honored for the joy he brings to life is Saint Valentine.

He is peculiarly the saint of the young and presides over the destinies of young hearts at the mating season.

February is a dull month and one of the worst months in the year for most of us. It is cold, rainy and short. It wobbles around in the calendar and sometimes has twenty-eight days and sometimes twenty-nine.

But this Saint Valentine's Day is set like an electric light in the midst of an otherwise darkened chamber.

No time of life is more beautiful than that time when youthful hearts begin to expand. It is the time of romance and of dreams and of hopes.

And over this swarm of beautiful fairies that infest this darkened race presides Saint Valentine.

Who can describe the enchanting fancies that fill a young man's heart as he selects the prettiest valentine to send to his lady love?

Or who can depict the flutterings of the feminine heart when she receives this valentine?

The man who has never felt the delightful pangs of early love is to be pitied and any institution or festal day that puts its stamp of approval upon love is to be honored.

Love makes the world go round.

Some one has compared it to gravitation or the law of gravitation as it is applied to souls.

It is the one thing that makes all men and women of one nationality, that makes us all human.

Saint Valentine's Day therefore is an argument for the cause of the race, for the brotherhood of mankind. It is universal in its appeal.

Young men and maidens were making eyes at each other and holding hands five thousand years ago and they are still at the old game.

Sometimes it seems as though St. Valentine was not much on his job, for many marital unions result disastrously.

But I suspect that the gentleman is doing the best he can with poor human nature.

CURRENT COMMENT

By CHESTER H. ROWELL

THE ship's radio brings news of the bare fact that the New York Republican delegation, the only Southern delegation of one sort of the country, do not regard this as important, and Hoover will probably be the object of most of the delegates when the Coolidge movement ends. May one be marooned in midocean, with no information beyond this brief spark, hazard the guess that the "end will be prompt and decisive by the action of President Coolidge himself. Perhaps it will have happened before this can get ashore.

THE writer is naturally reminded that he was on a ship in just this part of the ocean when the news came of President Coolidge's "I do not choose" statement. He at once wrote an alibi, to be printed when he got ashore, predicting that President Coolidge would be final and pointing out that Hoover was the logical candidate to succeed him. Events have since verified both these conclusions. President Coolidge has said as little as possible, and nothing except when forced by the action of others, but his course has been consistent and positive. Hoover has grown from the "logical" to the practical candidate, acknowledged even by his opponents to be in the leading position. If things keep on in their present drift he may be as good as nominated before the convention meets.

THE radio brings also the news of an aggressive combination of the dry forces for anti-Smith drive in the Democratic convention. This means, unless it fizzles, a repetition of the fiasco of four years ago. The opposition to be sure, was then united behind one strong candidate, while now it is divided among a dozen minor ones; but the differences is not so great as might appear. McAdoo was rather a cause than a personage, and the cause is as real as ever. It will start with more than one-third of the votes. If it is as determined as it is numerous, deadlock is inevitable.

THE question is how long American two-party system will survive this division of the country into groups unrelated to the parties. To bind Tammany and the Klan in one party is real misfortune. The Republican group is not so sharp, but is increasingly incongruous. The Republicans have been an combination of business and agriculture. The present candidates represent these groups, now consciously in name, but with the division between the business farmers with business and agrarianism between two millionaires, with Wall street tycoons, as their candidates.

HOW soon will both parties split up into blocs, as has happened in Congress? Except the election of their own Congressmen no longer parties. Both parties are sides of many controversial issues. The real division of the corresponds to these blocs. Certain the parties as traditional electoral mechanisms. E divide, actually, by economic

WASHINGON IN 1928
We are this month pausing to pick up a bit of applause. We are this month pausing to recall the character and contributions of George Washington—first president of the republic.

Second, George Washington brought a robust morality to public service.

He was not sentimental or romantically religious. He converted religion into a major campaign purpose.
